

Ozone Protection. We should phase out all HCFCs and CFCs by 1995, and adopt a table of restrictions on the use of ozone-destroying chemicals to match or better European standards, with specific targets and timetables.

Addressing Global Warming. We should agree to the goals of the original Global Warming Treaty, with a goal of reducing CO2 emissions to 1990 levels by the year 2000, and then do better. We should match Germany's commitment to reduce carbon dioxide emissions by 25 percent from 1987 levels by the year 2005.